

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A fuel cell and a method for manufacturing a fuel cell including a membrane electrode assembly that includes an ionically conductive member and an electrode disposed at the ionically conductive member. Further, the fuel cell includes an electrically conductive member or gas diffusion medium that includes a flow field formed of conductive particles dispersed in a binder.